Information for Trainees

As part of the education and networking program for trainees at e.hormone 2010, several senior scientists will be available for “Meet-the-Professor” lunches.

Each professor will meet with up to 4 trainees (students or postdocs) on either Wednesday or Thursday at tables reserved for them in the atrium. Trainees can sign up for slots during the opening reception on Tuesday evening on a first-come, first-served basis.

Information for Mentors

Have advice for up-and-coming trainees about career path, publishing, grant writing, the future of the field, etc.? Senior scientists are invited to volunteer to have lunch with 4 trainees (students or postdocs) on either Wednesday or Thursday of the meeting.

Besides feeling good about spreading wisdom and knowledge and responding to trainees’ burning questions, you also get to go through the lunch line first! If interested, please email Cindy Corbitt at cynthia.corbitt@louisville.edu with the following information: name, institution, lab website URL, brief (2 sentence) description of research interests, and preferred day (W or Th).

This information will be posted on the meeting website ahead of time. Students will sign up for slots during the Tuesday evening reception on a first-come, first-served basis. We only have room for a few professors each day, so if we can’t fit you in this year, we’ll try again next year.
